The Art Guys, in conjunction with the City of Boulder Office of Arts and Culture, are pleased to announce the opening of The Urban Preserve of Boulder.

The Urban Preserve of Boulder is the only urban preserve in the U.S.

The Urban Preserve of Boulder is a site in the city of Boulder that is recognized and designated as a preserve – to be studied, enjoyed and experienced by everyone. Much like a nature preserve, The Urban Preserve of Boulder seeks to create a heightened and more sensitive awareness of the fragile ecosystem of a section of a city at the edge of town.

The Urban Preserve of Boulder will be open 24 hours a day, every day and is accessible to everyone everywhere online or at the actual site.

Through designation, recognition and identification, The Urban Preserve of Boulder strives to "Connect People With a Place". The Urban Preserve of Boulder contains over 7,000 square feet of somewhat diverse urban habitat, the type of which are abundant in the Boulder area. The Urban Preserve of Boulder is home to different things including some species of life, plants, insects, occasional humans and pets, birds and probably some microorganisms and bacteria. The Urban Preserve of Boulder offers sidewalks, grass, artifacts, debris, self-guided tours, potential future programs, looking, experiencing, and fun for all.

Located online and at one of the busiest traffic intersections in Boulder and adjacent to apartments, condominiums and a large shopping center, The Urban Preserve of Boulder is observed by thousands of motorists daily and is easily accessed online and regularly traversed by walking pedestrians as well as bicyclists. Nearby parking in the shopping center parking lot makes it the ideal location for visitors coming from other parts of the city who wish to visit the Preserve. The Urban Preserve of Boulder is available online to everyone all over the world.

While nature preserves seek stability, The Urban Preserve of Boulder recognizes the unique instability of the changing nature of the fragile ecosystem of the urban environment. Nothing lasts forever.

The Urban Preserve of Boulder: There's nowhere like it!
